

Dear john,

It was a pleasure to meet with you. According to the meeting I would like to ask you if you want to get this application as web or desktop. A brief description of these two types of applications is below.

Activity	Web Applications	Desktop Applications
Updates	Any update and changes of application are very fast and cheaper than desktop application because you just need to deploy the changes on the server	Update one each computer. To install new version of software we need to ask the client to do that for every platform separately and if they don't want to do this, we have to support the old versions specially
Access	From anywhere at any time from any web browser or mobile device using the internet. Allows multiple location access using internet	Only from the computer the software is installed on. No mobile access. Allow single location access
Computer crashed	Does not affect your time, you can simply access from another computer, tablet or mobile device with internet access.	You have to reinstall and configure software on a new computer
Platform independent	Yes	no

We would be grateful if you could decide as soon as possible. If you have any questions, please feel free to reach me.
